

PRIVATE CHOICE PREMIERSM – CRIME INSURANCE

How crime insurance can help your business prevail against employee theft and other related crimes.

According to the 2016 Report to the Nations by the Association of Certified Fraud Examiners, it's estimated that the typical organization loses approximately five percent of its revenues each year to occupational fraud.¹ Even valued and trusted employees can be susceptible to misappropriation of company funds, especially during times of increased economic and social stress.

THE HARTFORD CAN HELP PROTECT YOUR BUSINESS FROM CRIME-RELATED CLAIMS

Having crime insurance is more important than ever.

- According to a 2016 survey by the Association of Certified Fraud Examiners, the median loss caused by employee theft was $150,000, with more than 23 percent of cases having losses of at least $1 million¹
- There are many ways in which an employee can steal. These are just a few:
 - » Keeping two sets of books
 - » Stealing materials and merchandise (pilferage)
 - » Paying bills to a fictitious company
 - » Making charges against inactive accounts
- Deception fraud (aka social engineering) losses have skyrocketed, since cyber thieves have grown more adept at mimicking internal emails:
 - » Since January 2015, the FBI has seen a 270 percent increase in identified victims and exposed loss, according to the Cleveland division of the FBI
 - » According to Mike Kosednar, assistant vice president and product manager for management and professional liability insurance at The Hartford, “Social engineering losses are almost 100 percent preventable. Agents and brokers play a critical role in educating their clients about these risks.”²
- Businesses are also susceptible to theft by non-employees – whether in collusion with current employees or through widespread misuse of computer systems
- Current coverage limits may not be enough to fully cover crime-related losses
